

Expatriate Insider 2018 Survey Reveals: Chile Ranks Better Than Ever in the Eyes of Expats

Expats find great job opportunities in Chile but struggle to make local friends.

- Ecuador (3rd), Mexico (4th), Costa Rica (7th), and Colombia (9th) rank in the top 10 destinations of the Expatriate Insider 2018 survey, together with Bahrain (1st), Taiwan (2nd), Singapore (5th), Portugal (6th), Spain (8th), and Czechia (10th).
- The results for Panama (13th), Chile (33rd), and Argentina (58th) are rather mixed, while Peru (62nd) and Brazil (65th) feature among the bottom 10 countries.

Munich, 6 September 2018 — Latin America is home to some of the best-ranking expat destinations across the globe, but also to some of the worst-rated ones. Ecuador (3rd) has recovered from last year's drop to 25th place, followed by Mexico (4th), which remains ever popular among expats. Costa Rica (7th) has lost five ranks since 2017 (2nd) but maintains its place in the top 10, together with Colombia (9th). Panama (13th) narrowly misses the top 10 ranking, while Chile (33rd) gives a rather lackluster performance. At the bottom of the list, Argentina (58th), Peru (62nd), and Brazil (65th) turn out to be disappointing destinations, as the Expatriate Insider 2018 survey reveals. With more than 18,000 respondents living and working abroad, it is one of the most extensive expat studies, conducted annually by InterNations, the largest expat community worldwide. Apart from offering an in-depth analysis of life abroad, the survey ranks 68 countries by a variety of factors such as quality of life, working abroad, and settling in. While results across Latin America vary strongly, this year's top 10 destinations for expats are Bahrain, Taiwan, Ecuador, Mexico, Singapore, Portugal, Costa Rica, Spain, Colombia, and Czechia.

Local Friends Not as Numerous as Career Prospects in Chile

After a steady downward trend since 2014 (from 36th to 51st in 2017), Chile ranks better than ever in the Expatriate Insider 2018 survey (33rd out of 68). Among other factors, this recovery is due to the country's improvement in terms of career prospects, with Chile jumping from 27th place in 2017 to 4th this year. "Chile is a country with high possibilities to achieve your personal and professional goals," a Spanish expat shares. With two-thirds of expats (67%) satisfied with their career prospects (vs. 55% globally), Chile is the best Latin American country in this respect. Three out of four expats in Chile (75%) are also satisfied with their job security (vs. 59% globally). However, they continue to be unhappy with their working hours: over two in five (46%) rate them negatively, which is 27 percentage points more than the global average (19%), making Chile the worst-rated country in the world for this factor.

While globally Chile only ranks 21st for digital life, this is still the best result among all Latin American destinations featured in the survey. The country performs particularly well when it comes to unrestricted access to online services (95% positive ratings vs. 80% globally) and paying without cash (93% vs. 78% worldwide).

Prior to moving to Chile, just 22 percent of expats considered the friendliness of the population a potential benefit (vs. 42% globally). In fact, the country ranks a low 51st for the ease of settling in: most expats (68%) find it hard to live there without speaking the local language (vs. 39% globally), and 40 percent say their friends are mostly other expats (vs 34% worldwide). "It is difficult to make long-term friends among Chileans who have not lived abroad. I have many acquaintances, but few good friends", an Irish expat reports. Just 62 percent of expats in Chile feel at home there, which is the worst result in Latin America.

Top 3 Countries for Expats Are Great for Working Abroad and Easy to Settle In

2017's surprise winner Bahrain defends its first place, thanks to excellent results for working abroad and ease of settling in (1st for both). Seven in ten expats in Bahrain (70%) are happy with their career prospects (vs. 55% globally), and 81 percent find it easy to settle down in this country (vs. 59% globally). "I do not feel like an expat in Bahrain," says an Indian respondent. "I feel at home here". More than three-quarters of the expats living in runner-up Taiwan (76%) are satisfied with their job security (vs. 59% globally), with the destination ranking first in the world for this factor. Taiwan also offers the world's highest quality of life, and 77 percent of expats feel at home there (vs. 64% globally). Coming in third place, Ecuador is one the biggest winners of the Expatriate Insider 2018 survey, moving up 22 ranks since 2017 (25th out of 65). While less than half the expats in Ecuador (46%) were satisfied with their career prospects in 2017, 69 percent are happy now. Moreover, 76 percent find it easy to settle down in this Latin American country (vs. 59% globally).

Bottom 3 Countries for Expats Rank Low for Quality of Life

India (66th), Saudi Arabia (67th), and Kuwait (68th) do not only rank at the bottom of the overall league table, but they are also among the worst destinations in terms quality of life. Expats in India are dealing with the world's lowest quality of the environment: more than four in five (82%) are unhappy with this factor (vs. 19% globally). Over two in five (41%) even give it the worst possible rating, which is more than ten times the global average (4%). "I do not like the quality of the air, all the trash, and the pollution," an expat from the USA says. "It is very dirty all over the country". Around half the expats in Kuwait (52%) and Saudi Arabia (47%) are also unhappy with this factor. Moreover, the two Gulf States rank last and second to last for the ease of settling in. About half the expats in Kuwait (47%) and Saudi Arabia (51%) find it hard to get used to the local culture, compared to 21 percent globally.

Ten Moments That Made InterNations

Growing from a start-up to a global network has been an incredible journey. Here are the stand-out moments that got us to a decade of connecting global minds.

About the InterNations Expat Insider 2018 Survey

For its annual Expat Insider survey, InterNations asked more than 18,000 expatriates representing 178 nationalities and living in 187 countries or territories to provide information on various aspects of expat life, as well as their gender, age, and nationality. Participants were asked to rate up to 48 different aspects of life abroad on a scale of one to seven. The rating process emphasized the respondents' personal satisfaction with these aspects and considered both emotional topics as well as more factual aspects with equal weight. The respondents' ratings of the individual factors were then bundled in various combinations for a total of 17 subcategories, and their mean values were used to draw up six topical indices: Quality of Life, Ease of Settling In, Working Abroad, Family Life, Personal Finance, and Cost of Living Index. Except for the latter, all indices were further averaged in order to rank 68 expatriate destinations around the world. In 2018, the top 10 are Bahrain, Taiwan, Ecuador, Mexico, Singapore, Portugal, Costa Rica, Spain, Colombia, and Czechia.

For a country to be featured in the indices and consequently in the overall ranking, a sample size of at least 75 survey participants per country was necessary. The only exception to this is the Family Life Index, where a sample size of at least 40 respondents raising children abroad was required. In 2018, 68 and 50 countries respectively met these requirements. However, in most countries the sample size exceeded 100 participants.
